

Jackson Place Community Council

Quarterly Meeting
June 9, 2008, 7:00-8:30p
Jackson Place Cohousing

Agenda

BBQ –Introduce candidates

Tracy Rowland from SPU – Water Conservation

Committee reports

Introduction of the new board

Tracy Rowland from SPU – Water Conservation

120 gallons per unit in cohousing per day.

Trying to get the per person average in Seattle to 50 gallons a day. It currently is 80 g
SPU is part of SavingWater.org; Has a great kids and teachers page.

Seattle is now doing Climate Action Now, which she thinks is better than the old slogan “Cool It”

Demo'd 5 minute shower timer; Drip gauge; Dye tabs to show toilet water leaks;

She had some kits for handing out.

Talked about how delivering water takes a lot of power, so if you can conserve water you conserve energy and help global warming.

Rebates for rain sensors

SPU is likely to soon offer a rebate for more efficient toilets

Number one largest use of water is the toilet.

Says we can have people come in who can talk about stenciling of drains, the new recycling program.

Committee Reports

Treasurer's Annual Report <get from Oksana>

Solicits grant possibilities

Traffic

More roadwork. new chicane on Charles. New choker on Lane. 18th and Jackson checked pavement. John submitted proposals to the city (Neighborhood Street Fund) for traffic calming on 20th and on 16th.

We need a new person to chair and push our traffic/neighborhood mobility plan.

Steve gives overview of other committees

Introduction of New Board

Joe Lotz, co-chair

Ryan Morgan, co-chair

Johnny Calcagno, Secretary

Oksana Winstead, Treasurer

Bill Bradburd

Cary Davis

Margo Robb

Susan Rose

Paul Crane (write-in)

Announcements

Katrina from Stellina wondered if anyone knew who hacked and pruned their tree;

Some Hiawatha South residents wondered if anyone knows who might have thrown the traffic circle signs into the bushes;

Kathy Sellars said that traffic circle maintenance happens every few months. Oksana said there were signs put up about this.

Lane Street Condos have a Google Group we can cross-pollinate with

Meeting adjourned at 7:43 pm